

Story of Sakshi Gopal and Madan Mohan

The moral of the story is " Even if there's no hope there is always hope"

Hope that Krsna's mercy is more than my hopelessness and that he himself may do every thing possible for us if we serve him.

People attend seminar - 'how to manage time.' One should follow the routine of the deity,

Eventually all the impurities will leave and Premamrta will enter

Verse-8
Notes on the Commentary
by Urmila Devi Dasi

This verse the devotee of Krsna has crossed beyond practice

Pride is gone completely Authentic humility saturates the heart with gratitude and acknowledgment that only divine mercy has eradicated one's deepest cheating nature

D's with confidence I am wretched yet blessed

Thoroughly honest open hearts for full cleancing with nothing held back

Eternal identity is fully revealed by the grace of Krsna

Beyond shelter and service one needs to make a plea for prema - not external as jewel or as a bath surrounding but internal and pervasive as a drink.